Jesus and the Book of Acts are the standard of Normal Christianity. Remember the fad a few years ago when people wore bracelets reminding them, What Would Jesus Do? Christians state that Jesus is the example of how to live, yet this has been limited in many cases to how we view our moral character. When Christians tell me that they want to live like Jesus, I like to ask if they have multiplied food, healed the sick, walked on water, raised the dead, paid their taxes with fish money, calmed storms, and so forth. I typically receive bewildered looks, but that s what it is like to live like Jesus!

Perhaps we are ignoring a large portion of what living like Jesus really includes. While I agree that we are to live like Jesus, Those who say they live in God should live their lives as Jesus did (1 John 2:6 NLT). I am also aware that the application of Jesus model has been minimized to something that can be accomplished by living a moral life. Many Christians believe that they can live like Jesus without ever operating in the supernatural. After reading in the Bible about all of the miracles He performed, does that sound right to you? Normal Christianity

By S. Augustine

Normal Christianity is living the book of Acts. Jonathan Welton challenges Christians to look like the supernatural Jesus. He shares Biblical teaching and personal testimonies of the sick being healed and the dead being raised. The book is a wake up call and a call to action to the church. Welton encouraged me and stretched my faith with this book. Pray for child like faith and get ready for the impossible as you read this book.

Normal Christianity

By Robert A. Burns

What Kathryn Kuhlman did as a Minister of the Word and one who was Gifted with the Healing Hand of the Holy Spirit was 'normal'.

The problem today is that the church, from my experience, is walking away from the Gift of Healing and in fact most of the Gifts of the Holy Spirit. In fact we are removing altar railings and replacing them with only steps to the platform.

Kathryn, as is Benny Hinn and so many others who are serving the Body of Christ are helping the Body with the Healing of Jesus.

The Church must change before the 'Coming of our Lord the 2nd time.'

Chapter Two 'Revival Myths' should be read by each Christian.

This is an excellent book and one for each pastor, minister, and church leader to read and study.

high-end revival should be our daily routine

By Ro'eh Nāvee

in believing that high-end revival should be our daily routine, the author voids its ambiguous varieties. the term "revival" has been clichéd through supernatural movements and stereotypes by believers who continue to idealize the mysterious and powerful ways of God. will we ever stop incorporating revelations of Jesus Christ into religious movements? is this evidence of human nature, like when David decided to build a house for God?

today, many invoke vague religious ideals through mantras chanted long enough to become idolized. one example is the leading question WWJD? but if every believer answered by putting on the teeshirt, walking from town to town spreading the awesome news of the quickly approaching kingdom of heaven, laying hands on the sick, seeing them healed, casting out demons, praying over dead bodies, then seeing them raised, WWJD would no longer seem like a faded teeshirt--people would be flagging down those iron-on letters for prayer.

among a throng of believers standing in a colossal oxygen tent--when the weighty presence of God becomes tangible in an auditorium, followed by waves of healing miracles, the presence of God comes and revives, bringing yet another revelation to throw a wrench in the gears--breaking more religious teeth. something that stirs up those pesky religious spirits every time. but more importantly, every single revelation of Jesus that enters the body tweaks our vision toward clarity.

the daily purely supernatural walk of Jesus is held up as a Christian ideal. from there, we could actually raise the "normal" bar even higher--as the author points out--since Jesus raised it when He taught us that not only could we do what He did down here, but after He returned to the Father in heaven, we would be empowered to do even *greater works*. because (1) Jesus would send down Holy Spirit to also be a powerhouse within us, and (2) because the Son of God would no longer be holding back the glory of God. now, add to that the promise: by faith, nothing is impossible for us. in that light, does healing the sick and casting out devils actually seem like a starting point, with Jesus as the source of infinite power who grinds every well-thought-out Christian ideal into dust?

stand in Finney's circle, and let revival begin.

the author also pointed out how the kingdom of darkness is not creative, just counterfeit. today, devils continue to counter the reality of the kingdom of heaven with the false hope of a eutopian global society in which men become gods in a world established by man. in addition, world religions have been established to supplant the true wisdom of God--some cults even exercise illegitimate supernatural power with the aid of unclean spirits in order to counterfeit the miraculous power of our Father in heaven. in response, the children of God must take authority over the usurpers in order to "reclaim the authentic" kingdom--the kingdom of heaven.
